Listings Alert: Guggenheim Museum Screens Film Reflecting on 9/11

Ten Years of Terror

September 9, 12, and 13, 11 am

Dir. Brad Evans, Simon Critchley

ca. 70 minutes, Blu-ray

Courtesy Brad Evans

In recognition of the ten year anniversary of September 11th, Ten Years of Terror examines the theoretical, empirical, and aesthetic dimensions of violence and the ensuing state of terror it produces. This series of reflections by key canonical thinkers such as Saskia Sassen, Michael Hardt, Noam Chomsky, Zygmunt Bauman, and others closely examines the enactment and ramifications of violence in our modern times. Film directors Brad Evans and Simon Critchley will be available for questions following each screening.

FREE with museum admission. For more information, visit guggenheim.org/filmscreenings.

Unless otherwise stated, film screenings are on Fridays and are shown in the New Media Theater in the Sackler Center for Arts Education. This film program is made possible with public funds from the New York State Council on the Arts.
